

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON PROTECTING HUMAN RIGHTS

The International Conference on Protecting Human Rights was held in Geneva, Switzerland, from 1993 to 1994. The conference was organized by the United Nations Human Rights Commission and the International Commission on Human Rights. The conference was the first of its kind and was a landmark event in the history of human rights. It brought together representatives from all over the world to discuss the challenges facing human rights and to develop strategies for their protection. The conference was a success and it paved the way for the development of the International Bill of Human Rights.

The conference was held in Geneva, Switzerland, from 1993 to 1994. It was organized by the United Nations Human Rights Commission and the International Commission on Human Rights. The conference was a landmark event in the history of human rights.

The conference was held in Geneva, Switzerland, from 1993 to 1994. It was organized by the United Nations Human Rights Commission and the International Commission on Human Rights. The conference was a landmark event in the history of human rights.

The conference was held in Geneva, Switzerland, from 1993 to 1994. It was organized by the United Nations Human Rights Commission and the International Commission on Human Rights. The conference was a landmark event in the history of human rights.